Join Ivan Button, founder of 'the nearly serious painter's workshops' on this journey to Italy in the spring of 2012. Ivan's own works are highly regarded, and he aptly describes himself as "a serious painter...but not too serious". His great sense of humour and personable approach endear him to all he meets, and his approach to art and painting is relaxed but professional.

From the novice with a passion to paint, to the more experienced looking for a fresh perspective, Ivan's helpful, friendly, encouraging manner has something to offer every degree of style and ability, and Italy is the perfect artist's palette.

Be Inspired!
